TWO Family Office and Meta Wolf Group acquire Germany's largest tile plant in Leisnig

TWO Family Office and the German Meta Wolf Group (Agrob Buchtal / Deutsche Steinzeug) have acquired the tile plant in Leisnig. With an annual capacity of around 6 million square metres, it is the largest tile plant in Germany.

The Meta Wolf Group already operates six production sites in Germany and, together with its partners, is committed to the future of Saxony as an industrial location. The goal is to resume ceramic production in Leisnig in 2027 and to position it as competitive and sustainable through investments in solar systems, artificial intelligence and robotics.

The restart of production is expected to create more than 100 jobs. To support the planned investments, suitable European funding programmes for energy efficiency, digitalisation and industrial transformation are also to be used.

The acquisition of the site is a clear commitment to the German ceramics industry and to the long-term strengthening of industrial value creation in Saxony.

Further information will be announced in the course of the project's development.
